WiTWA [+] brings to life If you can see her, you can be her.

If your organisation is looking to connect with a massive pool of female tech [+] talent, demonstrate its commitment to diversity and inclusion, and connect with thought leaders and change makers, WiTWA is the place to do it.

Our membership is engaged, enthusiastic and growing at a tremendous rate. This is your chance to not only get your brand in front of these dynamic individuals, it's your opportunity to start a conversation with them and get to know them better. If accessing female talent and attracting female applicants for roles within your organisation is proving a challenge, this is a great place to start.

Our partners are considered active contributors to our community. Those who have sponsored our TechXchange, Techtrails, WiTWA [+] Conference and Tech [+] 20 Awards know we value their input and interactions, and how we love to spread the word far and wide about their awesome support.

Your organisation can champion its values of gender diversity and inclusion by financially supporting one or more of our programs and initiatives, including the WiTWA [+] Conference and Tech [+] 20 Awards.

WiTWA [+] 2021 Conference

WiTWA's virtual conference last year attracted an incredible range of local and international speakers, with keynotes from Emma Isaacs (Global CEO Business Chicks), Dominic Price (Atlassian) and Dame Stephanie Shirley. This year we're looking to soar even higher and host an in-person conference (WA Covid-19 health advice permitting), which will be fully recorded and re-watchable after the event. The date and venue for the conference will be announced Q1 2021.

WiTWA Tech [+] 20 Awards Friday 5 November 2021

Network, celebrate and delight with your brand front and center at our annual celebration of WA's diverse Tech [+] talent. We work closely with your organisation to ensure maximum brand value for your investment. Become an Awards Trophy Sponsor, or engage with a Gold, Silver or Bronze Sponsorship.
